

HAVE YOU EVER WANTED TO LEARN TO ROPE?

Come join us on Saturday, July 30, 2011 for:

“A Day of Beginning Ranch Roping at Horizon View Farms”

Morning Session – Beginning Ranch Roping “Ground” Clinic

Clinician - Bob Sagely

Time: 9:30 am until 12:30 pm (Please arrive early. We will start promptly at 9:30 am.)

This clinic is an introduction to authentic, working style roping for humane cattle handling and doctoring. You can learn how to head or heel catch a cow from any angle or position around the animal without having to chase it around the pasture at mach 3 speed. Ranch roping is a slow and quiet manner of roping that keeps the cow, horse and roper calm and safe.

This session will involve ranch roping basics and be all ground work. You won't need a horse for this one. It is for beginners and experienced arena ropers alike. Learn about the history of ranch roping and the difference between this working style of roping and competitive arena roping. Bob will share a wealth of information about the various types of ropes and hondas; proper coiling techniques; forehand and backhand swings, including the houlihan delivery; several head and heel catches from various points around the cow and a brief demo of the ranch horse at work. Participants will come away with well over a dozen different catches to practice from the ground.

Afternoon Session – Beginning Ranch Roping Clinic – “The Making of a Ranch Horse”

Prerequisite – Beginning Ranch Roping “Ground” Clinic or permission of Bob Sagely

Time – 1:30 pm til 4 pm (We will start promptly at 1:30 pm.)

This clinic expands on the skills taught in the “Ground” Clinic. It will involve learning how to teach a horse to become a ranch roping horse. You will learn about getting your horse used to the swinging rope; dummy roping practice from horseback; logging (dragging) a load; safe dallying; the dally game for safe practice.

Minimum attendance will be 10 people and the clinic will be canceled if this is not met by July 15, 2011. If the clinic is cancelled for lack of required number of participants your fee will be refunded. If you pre-pay and then cancel prior to the deadline of July 15, 2011 your fee will be refunded. If you cancel after deadline date you may “sell” your spot. You will only receive a refund after the deadline if your spot can be filled by another paid participant. Thanks and we hope to see you there.
